

Review of Establishing An Apostolic Hermeneutic

Establishing an Apostolic Hermeneutic, by Elder D. Garza, is a valuable contribution to the library of Pentecost. Every minister is challenged to understand his presuppositions in order to be properly equipped for the defense of the gospel.

From methods of study to methods of interpretation to methods of presentation, Elder Garza carefully explains the dynamics of hermeneutics and why having the proper mindset is indispensable to the preservation of biblical doctrine, including how one can assist others to see the truth that we proclaim.

Pentecost is justifiably known for its emotion, but the Scriptures which describe our “joy unspeakable” also command us to study to show ourselves approved unto God. But why study without a disciplined, consistent approach to study? Emotion without control leads to error, and study without discipline leads to heresy. Elder Garza is to be commended for this excellent work in urging his fellow ministers to climb higher in their approach to the Word of God.
